TRANSPORTATION CIVIL ENGINEER

Parametrix, is a premier, 100% employee-owned transportation engineering, planning, environmental sciences, and construction management consulting company. We are seeking a Transportation Civil Engineer to join our Puget Sound team (Bremerton, Puyallup, & Seattle) in support of local municipal, state agency, transit and other transportation infrastructure projects throughout the region. This position focus will be primarily to develop designs for traffic signals, illumination and intelligent transportation systems (ITS) but may also support transportation design projects. This position has flexibility to work from home and come into the office for project and team collaboration.

This position will join a specialized team and is a growth opportunity for an engineer focused on signals, illumination and ITS to grow into a companywide technical resource and gain exposure to clients, project management and business development.

WHO YOU ARE:

Experienced: You have your BSCE, EIT and 2+ years of relevant experience focused on signals, illumination and ITS.

Love Details: You can't wait to support preparation of detailed signal and illumination designs, specifications and estimates required to develop construction documents. You are familiar with the MUTCD and the WSDOT design manual.

Tech Savvy: You enjoy applying your Excel and AutoCAD/MicroStation skills and are open to learning AGI32 and signal analysis software. You are interested in evolving technologies and innovation.

Relationship-Focused: You enjoy working in a team environment, are flexible, confident, you are not afraid to ask questions and are an excellent communicator.
